Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,
I have a 2005 Ford f150 truck with the 5.4 engine and I've been watching my fuel mileage drop slowly but steadily over the past five years. It's been about 60k miles and I've lost about 5mpg over that time frame. The truck runs perfectly so I haven't taken it in to have anything checked. Where should I start if I wanted to try and get the mileage back up where it had been?

Dan in Sioux City Iowa

Dear Dan,
Fuel economy degrades for many reasons, some of which can be avoided with daily habits while others need to be addressed on a more professional level. Daily you can keep the air in your tires at the level recommended by your vehicles manufacturer and you can keep your engine oil maintained and your air filter clean. Driving at excessive speeds also is a prime waster of fuel and with many places raising the speed limits we have seen mileage fall accordingly. Some of the more in-depth end tune up items such as spark plugs and wearing oxygen sensors can degrade economy. These things can be checked by your mechanic. Finally, but not all is the fuel system and induction system. As the valves and injectors become carbon coated and sludge builds up on them, the engine efficiency will drop and as it does the fuel economy will as well. These are a few things you and your mechanic can talk about.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,
I keep developing a shake in my cars brake system. It's a 2006 Chevy Impala and I made it the first 80k miles before it first happened and at that time they replaced all of my cars brake pads and rotors and it was good for about 6 months then the front rotors warped again and I replaced them a second time. Now it's been just three months and they are shaking again and I can only assume it's the front rotors. What could be causing them to fail so often when the first ones lasted so long? I'm using original equipment parts.

Peter in Sachse Texas

Dear Peter,
We suspect there may be more to the brake failure than just worn out brake pads and rotors. When brakes are replaced it is easy to replace just the parts you visually see worn and overlook underlying items such as calipers that are sticking and brake hardware and hoses that are causing the brakes to drag. An important part of any brake job is to thoroughly inspect these items or you can end up with repeat failure. If a brake is not releasing completely it may not feel like there's a problem but it can build up heat from dragging and that heat can lead to premature wear and also brake rotors that are warped again in a short amount of time. When you find out what is wrong inspect everything else thoroughly.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Coming in tomorrow's

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

It was another successful ending to yet another successful season for the Brandon Valley Lynx wrestling program. This week's Journal brings you all the action from Rapid City in a keepsake section. The Brandon Valley Board of Education met Monday evening, and writer Tom A. Savage brings you the details on all that's happening within our local school system.

Speaking of school, Tom also brings you the scoop on next week's South Dakota Percussion Showcase that will be held right here in Brandon on March 11.

The filing date has come and gone, and this week's Journal gives you the scoop on who wants to serve on the Brandon City Council and Valley Springs City Commission.

The Brandon Valley Hockey Association shares their plans to put spades in the ground for a new indoor hockey facility, and the spotlight shines on the winner of the first annual Burger Battle.

A BVHS senior spent two weeks as a Senate Page and shares thoughts on her experience on the sidelines of the legislative process.

After last week's snowstorm, the Lynx basketball teams played back-to-back doubleheaders. Find out how BV basketball fared in their final regular season games and who they'll face in this week's SoDak 16 games.

If you find yourself asking, "I wonder what's going on...?" It's time to subscribe to the Brandon Valley Journal! Give us a call at 605-582-9999 to subscribe today so you, too, can be in the know.
