Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I just purchased a 2021 Yukon with 80k miles. It was a dealer purchase, and did follow your advice and have a neutral third-party shop perform an extensive pre-purchase inspection. After driving the truck for two months I have already had to replace the brakes and front struts and a driver's side wheel bearing. Since I purchased it, my mail has been full of extended warranty offers. Should I think about an extended warranty? It seems like they all are promising different things and they cost a lot of money. Are my problems just bad luck or are these vehicles known for problems?

Mark in Pipestone Minnesota.

Dear Mark,

Well... that's a lot of stuff going on there. The inspection was spot on. We highly recommend one every time and not from where it is being purchased. As for the problems you have had, they are all common issues at 80k on these but not always. They don't set off our alarm bells. The warranties on the other hand do. While there are some exceptional extended warranty companies out there, there are many more that are not so great. A warranty is there to protect you and save you money, but they tend to be expensive and if they won't pay for a repair when you have a problem then it does you no good. Read the fine print many times and understand what's covered before committing to one.

Take care, the Motor Medics.

Dear Motor Medics,

I'm looking to purchase a used car for my high school senior who will graduate in the spring. This will be her first car and we hope that it will get her through college and maybe longer. Maybe graduate school if we're lucky. She will be commuting across the country to Arizona with trips back to Kansas several times a year. We want something that is good on fuel but also one that is safe and won't break down but cheap to buy too. What are your suggestions.

Thank you, Karen in Salina Kansas.

Dear Karen,

Although we get this question multiple times a year, it is still one of the hardest situations to deal with. We can't simply point you in the direction of a used car model and say go for it. There are too many things to consider. In the end you must make the choice for yourself, but you need to be smart in your search. We suggest setting a budget first, then choosing a car she likes. Once you have several models chosen, look up fuel economy and consumer reports on the likelihood of repairs needed. You can then use those factors to narrow down the choices. Once you have them narrowed down look at the safety ratings and you can further narrow down the choices to just a few and at that point you should be able to settle on just one based on miles and price.

Take care, the Motor Medics.

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

With 70-degree temperatures in the forecast, the Brandon Valley Journal brings you our annual spring sports preview this week.

After a tornado in late May 2022 displaced the Beaver Valley Lutheran congregation, they celebrated their long-awaited return during Dedication Sunday. The Journal brings you the congregation's "coming home" story.

Fred Assam Elementary Principal Sue Foster was surprised when Hood Magazine presented her with the "Educator of the Year" award last month, which Journal editor Jill Meier was there to capture in pictures. She also sat down with Foster to reflect on her 41-year career in education as her retirement nears.

Saturday is Earth Day, and volunteers in Brandon are teaming up with Friends of the Big Sioux River to clean up the landscape. Find out more about the event and how to join in the effort.

This week's Journal will have reports from the Minnehaha County Commission, Brandon Planning & Zoning and the Brandon Valley Board of Education meetings.

There's also a lively read on Kaycee Albertson's "Yoga at the Bar" class she's been leading at the Double D Saloon. Find out what led to this unusual location and the draw for local fitness enthusiasts.

And there's a whole lot more. So, if you find yourself asking, "I wonder what's going on..." it's time to subscribe to the Brandon Valley Journal! Give us a call at (605) 582-9999 to subscribe today so you, too, can be in the know.
