Ask the Motor Medics

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,
I've got button envy. I bought a 2010 Prius when it was new and I loved, well, still love my car but just not like I did after seeing a 2016 Prius. I bought my car because it was cool, lots of gadgets like a backup camera, HID headlamps and a fancy radio and displays that I didn't even know what the info on them meant. Now there are even more gadgets. When will it end and are these new features a safe gamble to buy with a new car or do you think they will just cause more things to break down and cost me money?

Tom in Spirit Lake Iowa

Dear Tom,
We love those buttons too! The more the better for us but that's not everyone's opinion. The Prius is one that has been on the leading edge of new tech for many years and each year they add a bit more. The base car hasn't changed much. The hybrid drive is still basically the same, but the creature comforts have come a long way. New tech design is strong these days and we don't worry much about it failing more than long-term tested devices. We all must have the newest cell phone and they change those every few months and their failure rate isn't off the charts. New tech seems to be the trend. We want it faster and we want it now. Enjoy the ride!

Take care, the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,
I'm in the market for a used vehicle and my budget can afford something in the $10k range but I am a guy who likes a fancier ride like a Cadillac or Lincoln so that means my $10k will buy me a lot less car than if I were to purchase a smaller more mainstream brand vehicle. I have ended up with what I call lemons in the past which have cost me almost what I paid for them in repairs over a few years of ownership. I found out one had been in several wrecks and even was salvaged at one time. How can I protect myself during a purchase? They all seemed so good on the test drive.

Mark in Wyandot Michigan

Dear Mark,
We have several of our listeners in this position. They went with a luxury car that was ten years old instead of a standard car that's just a couple years old with a factory warranty. When you buy an older car the added miles and time take their toll and you are bound to have more problems. To protect yourself as best as you can we strongly suggest you do at least two things in addition to the test drive. Those two things are a title history check to find out if there are damage brands reported and a mechanical inspection done by a professional mechanic. These aren't foolproof but do catch a lot of faults.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Master Comprehensive Plan

Brandon's Future Needs Your Input

We are seeking input from the public, business owners, and land developers because each group has valuable insights that often are not fully communicated to the others. Hopefully those groups can come together and work collaboratively as we develop the Plan.

Brandon has experienced quite a bit of growth (both expected and unexpected) since we last developed a Comprehensive Plan in 2014.

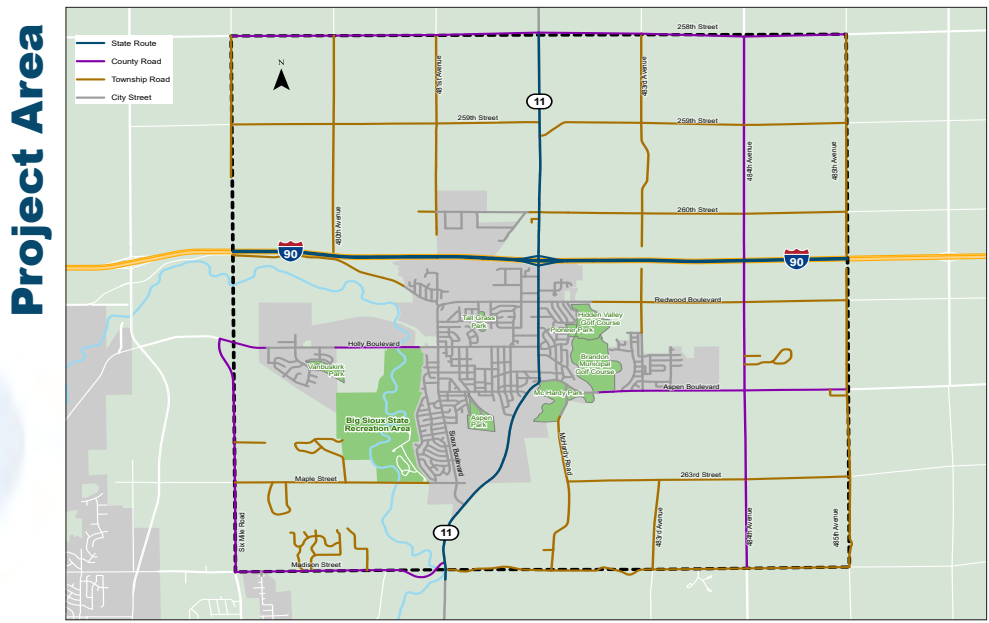

The Comprehensive Plan is the City of Brandon's official guide for making decisions about growth and development. The Plan is a document that considers what we are and what we want to be, and establishes goals, objectives, policies, strategies, programs, and projects that will assist in getting us from point A to point B. Unlike the zoning ordinance, it is not law. Rather, it is the policy planning side of "planning and zoning".

The City of Brandon, Sioux Falls Metropolitan Area, and the entire world is changing faster than ever before. From types of housing and employment to the accelerating pace of technological advancements, changes will occur, including many that will be difficult or impossible to forecast. A well-designed comprehensive plan should allow a community to evaluate and adapt to these changes gracefully. A community that has a vision for what it wants to become understands how it operates; its strengths and weaknesses; and its financial, environmental, and infrastructure limitations. This understanding should result in the community guiding its own development, rather than reluctantly allowing itself to be shaped and molded entirely by forces beyond its control. You can't be everything for everybody. Hopefully this helps us to become the best version of Brandon we can be for our community.
