Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2005 Chevy Malibu, and my power steering has started to give me trouble. I'm a regular listener of your Under The Hood radio show and even though I'm not much of a mechanic you have motivated me to get under my own hood and see what I may find. I thought I'd start with the fluid but now I feel a little strange because I can't seem to find where to fill it. I don't even see hoses in the area of the steering gear. Am I missing something? I love the show guys, keep up the great work!

Dawn in Memphis Missouri.

Dear Dawn,

Don't lose confidence in your mechanical abilities. You are not missing something, the car is. It's missing power steering fluid and hoses because many vehicles are now switching to electric power steering. They eliminate the fluid pump and hoses and use an electric motor attached directly to the steering gear which provides electric assist. It can be a good thing as some of the cars will provide electric steering assist if the engine were to stall, helping with safety. The downside is that they can be very expensive to repair. Check with your local dealership if yours is causing you trouble. They did have a recall on some of them and if yours is one then you could save hundreds of dollars by making a phone call to find out if it's included.

Take care, the Motor Medics.

Dear Motor Medics,

The tires on my 2014 Lincoln drop air pressure. I add air as often as every few days. I have had new tires installed and have made several return trips back to the tire store where they checked for leaks and did what they called resealed the bead whatever that is but they still leak. They now tell me I'm on my own unless I want to buy a full set of new wheels because that is the source of my leakage. Are they for real? How do wheels leak?

Michael in Hastings Nebraska.

Dear Michael,

This subject comes up a lot both on our radio show and in our shop. Tires can leak air for one of two reasons. The first is the tire itself has a puncture which in most cases can be found just by looking at the tire with the naked eye. Often there will be something stuck in the tread or sidewall. The second is something leaking from the wheel and valve stem assembly. In the case of having all four tires leak at the same time it's more likely in the wheels like your store says rather than punctures in the tires. When a car has leaking wheels, it can come from corrosion on the beads and even porosity in the aluminum causing leaks right through the wheel and yes replacement of the wheel is often the only fix. There are many stylish aftermarket options available..

Take care, the Motor Medics.
