Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I drive a 2015 Subaru Forester with all the options and lately I have been having an issue where all the lights on the dash come on. These are, check engine, ABS, Eye Sight, Service Trac etc. I took it into an auto parts store where they read the codes and they said there were too many to do anything with, so I had to go to a local shop. The shop tried to find out what was wrong and spent a long time on it and they did not charge me, but they said I had to go somewhere else as they could not figure it out. Well, I went back to the same parts store and bought a code reader and connected it to my phone then cleared the codes for the engine, which is all it will let me do, and all the lights went out. Do you think its something serious?

Jerry Carlson in Minot North Dakota.

Dear Jerry,

With many cars such as yours, when one code is set by a system like the engine management system, many lights will come on as they all rely on that system to operate. For example. If the Collision avoidance system needs to get a torque signal from the engine management system but there is a fault with it, it will not allow that system to operate and it sets a code. It's time for a trip to the Subaru dealer.

Take care, the Motor Medics.

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2010 Toyota Tundra with 300k miles on it and body wise it is a perfect condition truck. The truck has zero rust anywhere and is even clean underneath as we had it professionally undercoated by NHOU when it was new and have had it rechecked and touched up every three years since. This is a work truck, and we have it lettered which was expensive and replaced the transmission two years ago which cost a large amount. The engine has now failed. During recent rains our driver ran through some deep water, and it splashed into the air cleaner intake and damaged the engine. The dealership says a new engine is the only option. Cost of repairs is over 10k dollars and to buy another truck just like it with 130k will cost 15K. What do you suggest? We don't want to spend more money but buying someone else's problems does not appeal either.

Thanks, Marvin in Owatonna Minnesota.

Dear Marvin,

This comes up at our shop all the time. It's up to you but what we tell our customers is to see what others just like yours cost and weigh the options. You have done that, and it looks like you can fix it cheaper than buying another. That other one won't have the engine warranty that your new one will so that's also a thought. Check on low mileage used engines with a warranty too.

Take care, the Motor Medics.

Coming in tomorrow's

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

This week's Brandon Valley Journal brings you the highlights from last week's Valley Springs City Commission meeting, and Monday's Brandon City Council and Brandon Valley Board of Education meetings.

A Brandon man will celebrate 100 years of life this week. Journal editor Jill Meier sat down with Jack Lauer to learn more about the man who's lived 10 decades of life.

Full Circle Tattoo has left their mark on the local business community. This month, the Cedar Street tattoo shop is celebrating their 10th year – or possibly 11th – and Tom A. Savage shares their story in words and photographs.

It was Cindy and Carl Moss Night at the ballpark in Valley Springs last week, plus, we'll have all the weekly action from the Legion Baseball, Valley Rats and Huset's Speedway.

The Journal also brings you behind the doors of Ambush Academy, which opened this summer under the guide of AJ Garrow and Lorenzo Williams. Find out what local athletes are doing to get stronger, faster and more agile.

Summer is in full swing, and the Journal camera captured the season at Valley Springs Booster Days on Saturday and the Brandon Fire Department's open house on Thursday.

Plus, there's a whole lot more. If you find yourself asking, "I wonder what's going on ..." it's time to subscribe to the Brandon Valley Journal! Give us a call at (605) 582-9999 to subscribe today so you, too, can be in the know.
