Faith & Friendship in Adversity: The Trenton Bass Story

Jeff & Missy Bass' son, Trenton, was injured in a football game during the second game of his senior year at the age of 17. In one play... one second, his life changed forever.

A Game Plan 4 Hope was started in September 2019. It rose out of the hearts of two families who have been through life-altering experiences and felt the need to help others that are going through similar situations.

Their mission is to assist families whose lives are in despair because of a life changing event by providing a Game Plan 4 Hope. No one fights alone.

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

This week's Brandon Valley Journal is being delivered to more than 8,000 mailboxes. That's right, it's our annual "blanket the Brandon Valley School District" issue, and it's packed with a whole lot of local news, local feature stories and local sports.

For starters, we'll tune you into the Brandon City Council's recent discussion on how the city will regulate medical marijuana.

Valley Springs residents have been living among a sea of infrastructure construction, and we've got an update on where the project stands at this point of the project.

Northwest Tire's ground-breaking ceremonies last week marks the beginning of their new retail store going up along East Redwood Boulevard. Find out more about the services this North Dakota-based company will be bringing to Brandon.

Becky Blue, who was one of the leading forces in bringing the Brandon Tennis Association to fruition and the realization of four more courts and a tennis welcome center, is stepping down from her role as president/executive director.

There's some new and familiar faces stepping into new administrative roles at Brandon Valley High School this school year, and the Journal will enlighten you on the changes.

A Valley Springs man was inducted into the Huset's Hall of Fame and Tom Savage takes a look back at the local amateur baseball team – the Valley Rats' – 2021 season.

Finally, Journal editor stepped inside the new Inspiration Elementary, and we've got an entire special section dedicated to the new learning center, which just happens to be located inside the city limits of Sioux Falls.

If you're a subscriber, thanks for reading! If you're not, what are you waiting for? Give us a call at 582-9999 so you can be in the know of everything that's "Coming in Tomorrow's Brandon Valley Journal!"

Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,
I used the remote start on my 2004 Chevy Silverado to Start The AC the other morning and came out to find my interior filled with smoke. I did not see smoke coming out of any area, so I aired it out and drove to work. I have checked all the electrical functions and the only thing I find that does not work is the Interior Air Conditioning Blower Fan high speed. Could this be what was smoking?

Carry in Battle Creek Michigan

Dear Carry,
The interior HVAC blower fan system could have been the source of the smoke. Blower resistor failures are common as vehicles age. The blower windings break down over time and the resistance on the circuit increases, this extra resistance causes the resistor to run much hotter than it should. Eventually the resistor can fail and sometimes it will let off smoke. In addition to the resistor failing some vehicles have issues with the wires that attach to the resistor and the connector plug melting. In the case of the Silverado, it is a common issue and some of them were subject to a recall so check with your local dealership for more information. Most important of all to remember is to stop driving a vehicle when you see or smell smoke. Fire spreads quickly in a vehicle and you can be overcome by the fumes of the many materials used in its construction. Always think about your safety first.

Take care, The Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,
I have a 2007 Chevy Impala with several issues that all occurred about the same time. I have a check engine light on, I have poor engine heat, and my fuel mileage is not as good as it used to be. What kind of things should I be looking for?

Ron in Montrose Colorado

Dear Ron,
It is possible that just one thing is causing all your problems and that item is small and relatively inexpensive, your engines thermostat. The thermostat is responsible for keeping the engine temperature at a steady level so that you have proper heat available for the interior and proper operating temperature for the engine to operate efficiently. When a thermostat does not allow the engine to warm to a certain level on OBDII vehicles the computer responds by turning on the check engine light. Another effect of low temps is a decrease in fuel mileage due to continued fuel mixture enrichment. In the past, our vehicles used carburetors with chokes on them to enrich the fuel mixture for proper running until the engine was warm. Around the early eighties this changed to electronic fuel injection and is now controlled by the engine computer. If the thermostat does not regulate the engine temperature properly the computer may continue to enrich the fuel mixture causing the vehicle to have poor mileage. Thermostats should be serviced when the coolant is flushed or when they fail to operate as designed.

Take care, The Motor Medics
