Fun Football Fact

One of the most interesting NFL facts is that 12 teams have never won a Super Bowl (over one-third of the league, surprisingly), and four have never even made an appearance. Those four include the Detroit Lions, Cleveland Browns, Houston Texans, and Jacksonville Jaguars.

Ask the Motor Medics®
Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,
I have a 1988 Chevy truck with a 350 and Manual transmission. I have 90k original owner miles on the truck and last year I rebuilt the engine from the ground up. I was a machinist in my pre-retirement career performing race car engine builds. I worked with a younger local mechanic who has a shop and together we built it up some and added custom exhaust, a bigger cam, cold air intake, etc. After all this the truck went through three fuel pumps in the tank. The original and two more. I am not a diagnostic guy so I had a local mechanic take a look and he says that the failure is due to me using 10 percent ethanol blends in my truck and that I should never use it. Is this a real thing? I have four other cars and two of them are even older with in-tank pumps and I have never had an issue with them, and they have many more miles on them.
Jerry in Branson, Missouri.

Jerry,
The information that the mechanic has given you is not correct. Using 10 percent ethanol is the standard these days and has been for many years. IN our area it has been that way for over 30 years so if it was the issue, we would have seen many fuel pump failures. Knowing what we do about these trucks from our shop we would lean towards wiring or relay issues.
Take care, the Motor Medics.

Dear Motor Medics,
My question is about tires. I recently went to a tire store with my 1998 Ford F150 to have 4 used tires mounted on it. The tires I brought in were never used spare tires that had been removed from vehicles at a dealership about twenty years ago. The tires were for sale at an auction, and they sold over fifty of them. When I went in, they said that the tires were over twenty years old, and it was against the law to use them due to the age. They told me it was because age degrades the tires, and they could blow out causing a crash. They look new and I think they just want to sell me new tires, but they did not offer that. They just said no and sent me on my way.
Kevin in Ogden Utah.

Kevin,
Well, they are right. We don't know what your specific laws are but DOT frowns upon tires that old being on the road and in some states, yes, it is not legal to use them on the road. They will break down with time even when stored indoors so for your safety and the safety of others we do not recommend using them or selling them to someone who may use them for any purpose even for trailer tires. If they are on the road, they can be a hazard. Take care and stay safe.
Take care, the Motor Medics.

for five quart oil change

INCLUDED SERVICES

Oil and filter changed.
Filters will be checked.
All fluid levels will be checked.
In accordance with manufacturer's recommendations, several points on the car will be lubricated.

Motor oil and lube changes are very important for keeping your engine functioning properly. Motor oil keeps your engine lubricated so there isn't any excess friction or wear on moving parts.
